FREE GEORGE DONNELLY

“Donnelly was kidnapped off the streets of Allentown, Pennsylvania (interestingly, a state named for a man who helped establish the principle of jury nullification as a defendant!) by agents of the federal state. Donnelly’s ‘crime’ was not declining, as a juror, to merely apply the law rather than follow his conscience. Nor was his ‘crime’ attempting to inform prospective jurors of their right to do so themselves. Donnelly’s ‘crime’ was shooting video of state agents as they attempted to intimidate activists who were distributing jury nullification literature.”
